Activity Report
Academic Year	2022-23
Name of the Activity	Session on Patents and its application process
Date of the Activity	2/11/2022
Number of Participants	10
Venue	College Campus
Brief Report	A session on patents and their application process covers the basics of intellectual property protection. Patents grant inventors exclusive rights to their innovations for a set period. To obtain a patent, an invention must be novel, non-obvious, and useful. The application involves submitting a comprehensive description and claims to the patent office. There are three main types: utility, design, and plant patents. After submission, a lengthy examination process assesses uniqueness and non-obviousness. Patent holders can enforce their rights legally, potentially leading to damages. Patents typically last 20 years for utility and plant patents, 15 years for design patents, with maintenance fees required for ongoing protection.

Academic Year	2018-19
Name of the Activity	Session on Importance of H-Index and Impact factor for the Research Papers
Date of the Activity	10/02/2019
Number of Participants	08
Venue	College Campus
Brief Report	The session emphasized the significance of H-Index and Impact Factor in evaluating the impact and quality of research papers. H-Index measures an author's productivity and citation impact, while Impact Factor gauges a journal's influence within its field. Researchers should aim for higher H-Index scores to demonstrate their academic contributions, and journals with high Impact Factors tend to publish influential work. Both metrics aid researchers, institutions, and publishers in assessing the scholarly value of research papers, ultimately promoting excellence and credibility in the academic world.
